

EMOTION, OUTRAGE AND PUBLIC PARTICIPATION: MOVING FROM RAGE TO REASON

JUNE 15 - 16, 2016 CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

HOST: CHICAGO METROPOLITAN AGENCY FOR PLANNING

PUBLIC ANGER IS AN INCREASING FACT OF SOCIETY.

Growing global citizen outrage causes government gridlock, lawsuits, stopped projects, election losses, loss of time, money, and destroyed credibility. EMOTION, OUTRAGE AND PUBLIC PARTICIPATION is a new workshop that builds on IAP2's global best practices in public involvement and the work of Dr. Peter Sandman, a foremost researcher and expert in public outrage and risk communication. This course will help you move people from rage to reason and engage stakeholders in building consensus for better decisions.

This practical, hands-on workshop is a fresh 2-day mix of lecture, video, small and large group discussion and authentic, real world exercises that give you the answers, tools and ability to prevent problems, manage the tough public issues that you face and keep your organization on track and moving forward.
